SheaMoisture Hair Type Chart - Straight to Curly Hair Types

At SheaMoisture, we believe all hair types are good hair types. You and everyone you know has natural hair that falls under a specific type. So when we create a hair care product, we do our best to inform you about what hair types respond best to that product. We created this SheaMoisture Hair Type chart to make it easier for you to choose products to enhance your curls or coils, find products suitable for all hair types or select the best mixed-hair hold product.

There are numerous schools of thought about hair types, and instead of delving into the pros and cons of each one, our hair chart represents a consensus of general opinion. Hair type is really hair structure, and we recommend embracing yours with a positive outlook. With our hair treatment and styling products, there are no limitations as to how you can style and wear your hair - use our products to be uniquely you.

Note that hair types are classified into sub-categories of A, B or C, and this is simply a way to designate the width of the hair's wavy, curly or coil pattern.
