Solis of Switzerland

The Obligation Of Tradition
For over 105 years, Solis has successfully been introducing new equipment into the kitchen, beauty and climate-control segments. The long experience has enabled Solis to bring new, safe and innovative products to the market. As a Swiss company with a long and rich tradition, genuine values such as reliability, trust and sustainability are particularly important to Solis.

A Wide Range Of High-End Products
Solis offers a wide selection of useful household appliances that have a timeless design and highend quality, covering the kitchen, beauty and climate control segments. A high level of quality, design and functionality are what matter. Solis only introduces new products after they have undergone extensive internal and external testing. Of course, Solis products comply with the relevant legal norms. The most important requirement for a devise is that it should provide pleasure in its use at home. In order to make Solis customers happy with the sold household devices, Solis only offers those products that convincend the in-house staff after they personally had tested them.

Back To The Future
The honest opinion of customers and business partners is vital to Solis, because that is the only way for Solis to develop and improve their production constantly. Swiss designers develop new household devices so that over and over again, Solis can continue to score on the market with genuine innovations.

Milestones of Solis

Solis Of Switzerland – A Byword For Quality and Functionality For Over 105 Years
Solis was set up in Zurich in 1908, with its own production and sales facilities. The first product Solis invented and introduced to the market, was the electric heating-pad. A few years later, Solis launched the first Solis hair-dryers. From 1944 on, the company-owned production facilities were relocated to the Swiss Canton of Ticino, where they remain to this day.

Laying The Foundation For The Future
The takeover of Solis in 1983 by the entrepreneur Willi A. Nauer made Solis switch to kitchen and climate-control equipment, thus laying down an important foundation stone for the future. Shortly after, in 1985, Solis launched the first fully automatic domestic espresso-machine. This was a great success, with more than half a million of these machines being sold around the world.

The First Ionic Hair-Dryer
Whether in a professional hairdressing salon or at home, the professional hair-dryers of Solis have always been a guarantee of power, long service-life and innovation. In 2001, for example, Solis set new standards when they developed the very first hair-dryer to incorporate ionic technology.

The Next Generation Takes Over
In 2012, after more than 30 successful years, Willi A. Nauer handed the management of the Solis Group over to his son, Thomas Nauer, who has worked in the company since 2008. This means the business and its great traditions can continue to grow and move on to a new generation in family ownership.

Star-chef Tobias Funke recommends Solis

Taking Fresh Paths Together
Michelin-starred chef Tobias Funke and Solis of Switzerland AG have been following the same path since the end of 2013. This young chef (awarded 16 Gault Millau points and a star by the Michelin Guide) acts as a Solis brand-ambassador and exclusively presents the Solis high-end kitchen appliances. He has also adopted a consultancy role, testing new Solis equipment while developing recipes to suit them; he hands out great tips and tricks and publishes them on the Solis fan-page on Facebook. Tobias Funke was elected as the Newcomer of the Year by Gault Millau in 2011. In spring 2015, Tobias Funke will take over the reins at the new "Zur Fernsicht" restaurant in Heiden, Switzerland. This new establishment has a breath-taking view over Lake Constance and is fitted with two separate kitchens: a gourmet kitchen as well as a traditional kitchen.

Top Quality As A Common Denominator
"Good preparation and absolute top-quality products are vital to me", explained the Michelin-starred chef. That's why I appreciate Solis products – in the large kitchen at work, as well as in my own at home".

Emphasis On The Connection To Switzerland
When it comes to ingredients and dishes, a close connection to Switzerland is very important to Tobias Funke. His menu includes some Swiss recipes that are up to 400 years old, which he discovered at the National Library in Berne. This collaboration therefore also allows Solis to emphasise on its own close connection to Switzerland and to Swiss values, such as reliability, trust and sustainability.

Swiss Made by Solis

Hand-Made in Switzerland With Precision and Quality.

Solis is a traditional Swiss company with research, development, testing, design and production of technologically advanced top quality hair-dryers since 1933. Functionality, design and robustness play a key role. These extremely tough hair-dryers are manufactured by hand in Mendrisio, in the South of Switzerland. Every single device is carefully and manually assembled and safely screwed together. These hair-dryers are not packed and shipped, until they have passed strict qualitycontrol checks. Private customers, hairdressers, hoteliers and business people from the fitness and beauty sector in over 40 different countries value the care, quality and durability of Solis products.

Swiss production

Research and Development With Regard To The Future.

The Solis-owned research- and development-department in Mendrisio is already working on the innovations of tomorrow. With the latest equipment and technology products, Solis continue to develop products which should especially provide pleasure to their customers. The competent team develops new and innovative products for the kitchen, beauty and climate-control segments. The customer benefits are top-ranking for Solis and are the main-focus throughout the development. The aim is always to offer new and unique products to the customers which ease everyday-life and enrich people's lives.
